

The Chenxi Traffic Police can now print a day's worth of colour traffic summons in less than an hour after procuring HP Color LaserJet printers.

In the administration department of Chenxi Traffic Police Team, part of the daily tasks of data entry personnel is to ensure that annotations are added to the captured images of vehicles that violate traffic rules. These images will be printed out as traffic summons which will be sent to vehicle owners.

The department has to process about 300 documents a day. But due to slow printing and frequent print head clogging, they can only finish 200 documents a day. This resulted in a huge backlog of work.

When they heard that the HP Color LaserJet 2600n Printer can print several sheets in a minute and costs less than RMB 4,000 (around US$500), they purchased a couple of units. They were delighted immediately, as HP Color LaserJet printers proved to be as good as claimed. They can now process 300 documents in less than an hour, which is four to five times faster than their old printer, at better print quality, too. The HP Color LaserJet 2600n Printer helped Chenxi Traffic Police Team greatly.
